

CLOVERDALE MAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

RAY BARR, AGE 30 YEARS, WAS CRUSHED TO DEATH BY ROLLING LOGS, WHILE WORKING AT THE RICKEY SAW MILL ON WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON—LEAVES WIFE AND THREE CHILDREN

Ray Barr was killed almost instantly at near 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Rickey Saw Mill at Cloverdale, when he was caught under a falling log. Barr was literally crushed to death.

The young man was assisting in handling some logs and was working between two piles of logs, when suddenly the top log on the pile of logs behind him slipped, rolled off catching him under it crushing out his life.

Barr was stooping over placing a log hook around a log, when the log on the pile behind him fell. The pile of logs behind him was about eight feet high and the log fell with great momentum.

E. C. Bohannon, another employee, was working with Barr and narrowly missed being caught under the falling log. Barr had started working at the mill on Tuesday morning, having killed on the second day he worked there.

Besides a widow, Barr leaves three children.

INTERESTING MEETING OF KEYSTONE BIBLE CLASS

About twenty five members of the Keystone bible class met with Miss Tena Mason Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Adams the president presided. The different committees of the year were appointed.

Mrs. Kendall gave a well prepared paper on the "Book of Ruth". An interesting discussion followed.

A very solemn but beautiful memorial service was conducted for Miss Ira Adams. The service was led by Miss Emma Reeves and dealt on the earlier history of the family. Many endearing comments on her life and clear character were expressed.

Mrs. Mason was the guest of honor. Miss Mason served dainty refreshments.

The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Julius Bryan in June.

CHRISTIE CAR DRIVEN TOWARD INDIANAPOLIS

FARMER, WHO WAS HELPING GET TRUCK OUT OF DITCH, RECOGNIZES STOLEN CAR AS
IT PASSED HIM ON THE ROAD
EAST OF FILLMORE

That the Oakland Sedan stolen from George Christie was driven to Indianapolis there is little doubt.

The car which was left standing in front of the Christie residence on Walnut street, was taken some time after 1:30 o'clock as it was seen standing in front of the house at about that time.

At near 2:30 o'clock a farmer living east of Fillmore who had been called out to assist in getting a truck which had mired down at the side of the road, out of the mud, saw the stolen Sedan. The machine was headed east toward Indianapolis.

The prayer meeting of the Locust Street church will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. This meeting will be of especial interest and every member is urged to be present in the absence of the pastor.

TELLS OF TRIP TO PAGOSA SPRINGS COL.

Pagosa Springs, Colorado,
May 14, 1920
To the Editor of the Herald and Friends in Indiana.

Will write you a letter describing our trip to our new home in Pagosa Springs Colorado.

We left Greencastle on March 31st at 8:39 A. M. and all that day we rode through the prairies of Illinois and Missouri which were surely beautiful to behold. As far as your eyes could see, you could see the rich level farms, with their large dwellings and barns.

The Mississippi river was high when we crossed it and the children were very much excited when they saw it and the mountains. We traveled in sight of the river for miles and reached St. Louis at 1:55 P. M. We left for Denver in a very few minutes and instead of going by way of Kansas City as we had planned, we took the upper road and went by Hannibal and St. Joseph, arriving there at 11:20 the first night. Next morning it was snowing and colder, snowed until nearly noon, while we were going through Nebraska. Then in the afternoon we came to eastern Colorado, which was barren and thinly settled. But as we came to the irrigated districts, it resembled Illinois. The train conductor told us that the land was worth $300. to $350. per acre.

We reached Denver at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening and left at 7:10 passing through Colorado Springs after dark but it was moonlight and we could see the country very plainly and saw Pike's Peak by moonlight. Passed through Pueblo at near midnight Thursday night and reached Alamosa Friday morning at 6:30 o'clock. We had to stay there at the hotel until Tuesday morning at 7:10 on account of the Ambrass pass up in the mountains being filled with snow. Alamosa is a pretty town with a population of 5000 people. Its altitude is over 7000 feet, it's arid and the water is very healthy. Going from Alamosa to Pagosa Springs was by far the most interesting and exciting day of the trip. We were winding around on the top of the mountains, seeming as though the train would surely tumble off and as you looked down through the trees and huge rocks, you felt yourself shiver with fear. We went through tunnels and passed right by the side of Tekee gorge which is 1300 ft. feet deep. It sure looked a long way to the bottom. In going up the mountains we passed the same section house three times. While we were on the lower track we could look up the side of the mountain and see the other two tracks above us.

At Cumbres pass the snow was above the car windows. The narrow gauge trains seemed strange to us with their small engines.

We ate dinner at Chama, New Mexico and reached Pagosa Springs at 6:30 o'clock. Judge Vermillion met us at the train and took us in an automobile to his home, where we enjoyed a delicious supper of beefsteak and brown gravy and other eats which good housewives like Mrs. Vermillion know how to prepare. The following evening we secured two furnished rooms at the Spring Hotel which we are still occupying.

Pagosa Springs is the county seat of Archuleta County, has a population of 1200 people and is 7000 feet above the sea level. It is surrounded by mountains, the lower ones being wooded to their summits with Spruce and Pine while Pagosa Peak, Saddle mountain, Oil mountain, and Square Top mountain which tower 1200 to 1400 feet above the sea level are covered with snow. The San Juan river winds its way through the town. The rivers here are very swift. Then comes the beautiful hot spring, large as a pond with its boiling hot water bubbling up all the time. To drink its water and take the baths is almost a sure cure for rheumatism, kidney and stomach trouble. There are many small holes and surrounding them the earth is honey combed and looks as if white ashes had been scattered over it. The springs are certainly a natural wonder a constant flow of steam is coming up from them and they are worth making a trip to see.

Defying the Elements

When we first came we had several snow flurries but the sun would come out and it was soon gone. In half a day the ground was dry. The sun has shown almost every day since we came but the nights are very cool.

There is no fruit grows here except small fruit like berries.

Will close hoping this finds all well and happy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Thomas.

ROBERT KERR KILLS HIMSELF AT ZINC MILL

Robert M. Kerr, better known as "Bob" Kerr superintendent of the American Zinc Products Company mill committed suicide in the main office of the mill during the noon hour today, by shooting himself through the temple with a 32 calibre revolver.

Mr. Kerr at noon borrowed the keys to the main office of Eugene Schmid, master mechanic, and going into the main office got a revolver belonging to the night watchman and shot himself. The bullet went in the right temple and came out of the left.

Workmen returning to the mill after the noon hour found the body, which was taken to the Hanna & Huff man undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

Mr. Kerr had been suffering a nervous breakdown and had been complaining recently of feeling bad. It is believed that he became temporarily insane because of the nervous attack and killed himself.

His brother, Howard Kerr, also is an employee at the mill. Warren Kerr who originated the business here another brother, was notified by wire.

The wife and three children, now in California, having been in the west during the winter.

Mr. Kerr was about 38 years old. He came to Greencastle with his brother. He resided on west Poplar street in the old John Dunlavy property.

The Maple Chapel prayer meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Margaret Lemon of Bedford will have charge. A good attendance is desired.

Charles Sage returned home today from Butlerville where he has been visiting his brother, George Sage who is chief clerk at the Butlerville Institution for Feeble Minded.

English Marquis, Three Centuries Ago, Had Ideas for Projects at That Time Undreamed of.

One of the most curious books in English literature is that which bears the title, "A Country of Inventions," and whose author is Edward, marquis of Worcester, who died April 3, 1607. The book appears to have been written 12 years before his death, and consists of hundreds of descriptions of projects, none of them, however, so explicitly treated as to enable a modern adventurer to carry them out in practice.

In this book are to be found methods for secret writing, by cipher or by means of a peculiar nature; telegraphs or sonaphones, explosive projectiles that would sink any ship, scintilla that would resist any explosive projectile, floating gardens, a method of fixing shifting sands, a way to make a boat work against wind and tide, and many other curious contrivances.

Nothing came amiss to the mechanical marquis; neither were his projects mere dreams, for he had worked out in his own mind a clear conception of a steam engine, and is believed to have made a working model of one. His estate was filled with all sorts of machines for raising water to the top of the great tower by hydraulic power, and during the war he frightened away a troop of Roundheads by a display of these unknown powers.

The marquis impoverished himself by his adherence to the cause of Charles I. and when Charles II. came on the throne he was neither recompensed for his losses nor rewarded for his fidelity. Kings' memories are often very short.

MATING ARRANGED BY ELDERS

Young People of Java Have Little to Say in Selection of Husband or Wife.

Marriages in Java are typical of people in all tropical climates, in that the couples wed when they are very young. When a girl reaches her eleventh or twelfth year, her parents begin to look out for a suitable husband, and after the selection has been made, the start long preliminary discussions with the parents of the boy. The father of the girl then consults the "wise man" of the village, usually the only literate person in the community, further action being taken solely on his advice.

The wise man takes the first letters of the names of the prospective bride and groom and draws them together in various shapes, then meditating over the combination which is to decide whether the boy and girl are going to be happy in their marriage. If the drawing suggests in the imagination of the wise man a tree with many branches, he warmly recommends the alliance between the boy and girl as the drawing is supposed to promise them prosperity and, above all, a large family.

When the selection is made to the satisfaction of all concerned, the parents begin to discuss the dowry, which, in the case of the Javanese, is supplied by the groom, consisting of dresses, food, household goods and other similar articles.—Detroit News.

A Manor House Find.

The story of the find of 1,000 spade guineas in the press of an old Herefordshire (Eng.) manor house is told in The Bookman's Journal. The house belonged to a family of the name of Hereford, and the new proprietor, a few weeks after taking possession, examined the attics systematically. In one of the presses there he found a number of tattered and stained books, among them Doctor Croly's "Satanstoe," which he opened in casual curiosity. On a page he came across a pencilled note, indicating where valuable had been hidden in the house during the crisis of the '45 rebellion. Fortwith he had the flooring of a cupboard taken up, and there in a cavity lay some thousand spade guineas, a quantity of rare china and silver, and first editions of Congreve, Wycherley, Dryden and certain of the late Elizabethans—all carefully wrapped in silken dresses of that decade.

Metals That Call for Use.

Of the metals now known, more than 50 in number, Dr. E. E. Sloosness notes that not one-half have come into common use. The so-called rare elements are really abundant enough, considering the earth's crust as a whole, though they are so thinly scattered that they are usually overlooked and hard to extract. But a few of them prove valuable. It is soon found available. A systematic search generally reveals it somewhere in sufficient quantity to be worked. Who, then, it is asked, will be the first to discover a use for indium, germanium, tellurium, thallium, lanthanum, neodymium, scandium, samarium and others as much unknown to us as of today as tungsten was to our fathers.

Unperturbed.

"Ha," exclaimed the client, "You predicted the world was coming to an end a week ago."
"Did I?" replied the soothsayer, dreamily.
"You certainly did. But we are still here. Nothing has happened. What have you got to say for yourself?"
"Just this," said the soothsayer. "I'm as glad it didn't happen as you are. Mistake," he continued, mentioning languidly to his dark-skinned assistant, "show the gentleman out and admit the next seeker after truth."

Worse Than Tigers.

Once, Confucius was passing by the slope of Tai Shan. He encountered a woman who was crying mournfully by a grave. The master leaned upon the rail of a cart in a position of respect, and listened.
"What is the matter?" he asked.
"The son of my father-in-law died in the mouth of a tiger; my husband, too, was slain by it; and now, alas, my son is killed by it also!"
"Then why dost thou not get thee hence?"
"—Because there are no cruel laws here."
"Acknowledge this, my children," said the master to his disciples, "cruel laws are master tigers!"—From a Chinese classic, "Ancient Compositions." Translated by Moon Kwan.

LEARN MUCH IN QUIET HOUR

Cultivation of Habit and Attitude of Listening is Matter of First Importance.

Cultivate the habit of listening, as you would the habits of memory, ory. See to it that you listen with every sense alert to all that is going on in this vast panorama about us. Cultivate, too, the habit of listening when you are alone. If it is in the midst of a vast forest, listen to the myriad voices all around you, the song of the streams, the murmur of the pines, the whisper of leaves and the rustle of elm. If it is alone in your room, take a few moments for quiet meditation, and listen to the still "small voice." God's messenger, speaking to you of the inner thoughts and life which only he and you can understand. It is only by thus "lovely listening" that we can hear the right word for our guidance.

There is always time to listen, for by listening I mean an attitude of mind and heart rather than a particular time or place in which to exercise the art. The time and place for its cultivation is here, there, now and always, wherever we are, whatever we may be doing. It is surprising how much more the listeners of the world accomplish than they who are blind, deaf and unmindful to the great possibilities in the life that is ours.—Elise Tash, writer in Christian Herald.

New Use for Asbestos.

A new and important use for asbestos has been found. Its wide adoption depends on the finding of new sources of the material. One of the latest suggestions, which has been carried out on an appreciable scale in the United States, is the construction and permanent casting molds for the production of the lighter kinds of metal castings. In making these molds, the ground asbestos is mixed with a suitable binder and pressed into a form or flask over a master pattern, and is then stored slowly up to a temperature of 800 degrees F. This preliminary drying removes the bulk of the moisture, and establishes the binder. The pattern is then removed,
and the form heated up again to a temperature several hundred degrees in excess of the temperature to which the form will be usually exposed.
After this treatment the forms or molds are ready for use, and, it is said, may be employed indefinitely;
at any rate, as many as 1,700 castings have been made from one of these permanent molds.

SOLAR SYSTEM MADE PLAIN

Illustration Given by Herschel is Probably the Most Comprehensive Ever Devised.

Perhaps our most graphic picture of the solar system is given by Herschel.
Imagine a circular field two and a half miles in diameter; place a library globe two feet in diameter in the very center; 82 feet away put a mustard seed. The globe would represent the sun and the mustard seed Mercury.

At a distance of 142 feet place a pea, and another at 215 feet. These will represent Venus and the earth, both as to size and distance. A rather large pinhead at a distance of 327 feet will speak for Mars, and a fair-sized tangerine a quarter of a mile distant will stand for Jupiter. A small lemon at two-fifths of a mile will play the role of Saturn, a large cherry three-fourths of a mile distant will answer for Uranus, and a fair-sized plum at the very edge of the field will proclaim Neptune.

Eighty moons would be required to make one earth. A player there could throw a ball six times as far as it can be thrown on American diamonds. A man weighing 150 pounds there would be as light as a feather, and from the sun in 13 seconds as it gets from the moon in a whole year.—From a Bulletin of the National Geographic Society.

LEFT REST OF TRIBE IN CAVE

Mandan Indian Legend Says Fat
Woman Broke Down Only Exit
to the Upper World.

The fundamental simplicity of the American aborigine is illustrated best in the Indian myths and legends which have come down to us, asserted Dr.
Rudolph Rieder in an address before the Wisconsin Archeological society.

"These myths," Doctor Rieder said,
"cannot be translated into pretty phrases, as in that case the simple beauty of the original is lost."

"There is a rather interesting legend concerning the origin of the Mandan tribe. It says that once the Man-dans lived underground in a cave from which a large vine grew. One young warrior climbed up this vine one day, and liked the country so well that he induced several of his tribesmen to follow him up the vine into the world outside. Several chiefs and warriors came with him, but when a fat woman tried to climb out of the cave, against the counsel of the chiefs, the vine broke and the rest of the Mandan tribe had to remain underground. This fable may account for the fact that the Mandans were a relatively small tribe and also for their antipathy to fat women."

Make Friends With Horses.

One reason given why native Arab horses are generally exceedingly friendly and fearless is that they are often brought up almost in the midst of their owner's children, and are used to being handled and petted from the time they are tiny foals. Whether this is true or not, it is certainly a good plan for anyone who has a pony to while spending a lot of time in the stable talking to him and getting him to have perfect confidence in you. It should be remembered in handling horses and ponies actions should be quiet and deliberate. Once a pony and his master get to be "pals" riding and driving become far more interesting—almost, in fact, like going round the country with a friend you can talk with.—Christian Science Monitor.

UNIQUE FEATURE OF WEDDING

Javanese Couple, at End of Ceremony,
Kiss the Feet of All Their Relatives.

A festival procession through the village, headed by two monstrous figures with arms and legs agitated by men hiding inside, forms part of the marriage ceremony in the Island of Java. The music in the procession is supplied by the gamelon, the national orchestra, consisting of drums, bells and other noisy instruments, while an additional noise is made by a group of men on horseback striking with all their might in the native "angkoeng,"
which is something like a tambourine,
made of bamboo.

The women, their hands filled with paper birds, flowers and feather fans made of peacock plumes, follow on foot, and are in turn followed by the priests, solemnly singing their prayers. The bride is carried by four men as she sits on a wooden platform surrounded by a few girl friends. After the procession goes around the village twice, it finally stops before the house of the groom,
and the bride is carried into the house
in the arms of her father-in-law.
The whole family then assembles

in a circle and the young couple, bending on their knees, kiss the feet of all the relatives. The kissing of the feet marks the end of the ceremony. The feast lasts late into the night but women and men celebrate separately,
only the young couple being allowed to eat together.—Detroit News.

HISTORY TOLD IN MOSAICS

Beautiful Examples of Early Art to Be Found in the Ruined Temples
of Egypt.

One of the earliest attempts at artistic expression was through the medium of the mosaic. Ruins of that il-luminous city of the East, Nineveh, contain examples of the art. Mosaics are found frequently in the ruined temples of Egypt.

It was in Greece that the art was first used to any great extent. All through the rocky little peninsula
may be found the beauty of the Hellenic temperament expressed in mosaic. The Erechtheum, in Athens, constructed about the fifth century B.
C., contains many exquisite specimens worked in both glass and marble.

Mosaic did not reach its highest development, however, until the power of Rome had bloomed to the full. The Romans not only utilized this form of art themselves to a great extent,

but spread it all through their conquered territories. One of the ways of tracking the footsteps of the Roman conqueror is by means of the mosaics he built. The art was continued down through the medieval and renaissance periods, flourishing especially in Italy.—Exchange.

Chinese Paradise Fish.

A little Chinese fish known as the paradise fish is remarkable for its brilliant coloring of crimson and blue.
In the sunlight it shines in a rainbow glow of color. The dorsal fin extends from near the back of the head to the tail. The paradise fish was first brought to France from China by M. Simon in 1869, having been found in a brook near Canton. The most interesting thing about this little fish is the nest made by the male for the reception of the eggs. It makes a little floating nest of glutinous bubbles below the surface of the water, and measuring up to six inches across.
Here it places the eggs, some 200 in number, and mounts guard over them.

EARLIEST OF ENGLISH COINS

Golden Solidus, Still in Existence, is Believed to Belong to Year 421 A. D.

The golden solidus of Sean Omodhu is the earliest English coin in existence, estimated to belong to the year 421 A. D. by Alfred Anson, F. R. H. S., at a meeting of the British Numismatic society. He expressed the opinion that the coin had been struck to commemorate the victory that the Alemannic Prince Sean, duke of Cair Benet, or Winchester, won over the Saxon invaders of Britain in the sixteenth year after that in which the comet of A. D. 443 was seen—namely, in A. D. 459. Sean was the official chief of ten provincial kings in southern Britain. In the "Merlin" he was called "Duke Escam." In the "Morte d'Arthur" he was called "Duke Euseance." Wolfram von Eschenbach, circa 1210, said he was slain by Orilus, lord of Cumberland.

The folk name Omodh, genitive plural Omodhu, Mr. Anson identified with the Amothingas of "Widsith." Their homeland lay near Shrewsbury, and to this day that town is known by the Welsh as "Caer Amwythig."

Make the Best of the Present.

Most of us dream of what we might have been if we had been given a second chance. If we were honestly given a chance to choose another path for another life, we would come back at last to the choice of a better chance at the life we have lived. Our long regrets are not over things we had no opportunity to do, but over things that we could have done and did not do. What we need is not a better chance, but a better use of the chance we have. It would not be a new line of life we would choose, but new vigor and wisdom in the line of life we have already followed. If, therefore, we do not want to build up regrets for old age, we will want to put as much fitness and devotion into the life we are living as we think we would put into another life if that were permitted us.

Misled by the Head.

May Vokes was talking about one of her early appearances in New York. "Gee!" she said, "I shall never forget a write-up one of the papers gave me." "Because it was so good?" she was asked. "Oh, no," she replied. "Because I had such a hard time to find it. I didn't know it was in the paper until about half a dozen of my friends called me up and told me about it, and even then I couldn't locate it, although I searched that old paper ragged." "Why couldn't you find it?" "Because," said Miss Vokes with a grin, "the damned thing had a two-column head on it. I thought it was a patent medicine ad."

How Chinese Handle Eggs.

Hunan, China, is a very large egg-producing district. Changsha is one of the most important distributing centers and eggs are preserved here for shipment to other parts of China. Under the old system the eggs are collected in the country round about and sent to the egg commission houses to be sold to retail dealers or peddlers. For export to other parts of China the eggs are preserved by wrapping them in a coating of clay and salt mixed with rice hulls. Such clay-wrapped eggs are then closely packed in large jars and sealed up, after which they are said to keep indefinitely.

"The Goose Hangs High."

The expression "the goose hangs high" comes from the southern amusement known as "goose pulling." A goose, its neck carefully plucked and well greased, was hung by its feet to the branch of a tree. Men on horses would ride past at a gallop, trying to catch it by the neck and pull the head off. The better the goose was in dodging, the higher the fun.

Garner Hill, Gladstone, N. J., Sells Rat-Snap He Says.

"I sell and use RAT-SNAP. Like to look any man in the face and tell it's the best. It's good." People like RAT-SNAP because it "does" kill rats. Petrifies carcass—leaves no smell. Comes in cakes—no mixing to do. Cats or dogs won't touch it. Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by John Cook & Sons, J. Sudranski & Co., L. P. Mullins.

RATS DIE

so do mice once they eat RAT-SNAP. And they leave no odor behind. Don't take our word for it—try a package. Cats and dogs won't touch it. Rats pass up all food to get RAT-SNAP. Three sizes, 25c size (one cake) enough for pan try, kitchen or cellar.

50c size (2 cakes) for chicken house coops or small buildings.

$1.00 size (5 cakes) enough for all farm and out building, storage building, or factory buildings.

Sold and guaranteed by John Cook & Sons, J. Sudranski & Co. R. P. Mullins.

Don't Always Blame Hens When Eggs Are Scarce

Rats may be getting them—U. S. Government Bulletins prove they know how to get them. Break a cake of RAT-SNAP into small pieces and place where rats travel. If there RAT-SNAP will get them—positively. Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00 Sold and guaranteed by John Cook & Sons, J. Sudranski & Co., R. P. Mullins.

Let Mrs. Mary Graves Tell You Her Poultry Raising Experience

"Three years ago bought an incubator, this year I've made money. Rats stole my baby chicks. Didn't know until a friend gave me a cake of RAT-SNAP. Next morning found two dead rats in hennery. Kept finding them. Suddenly they disappeared altogether. It's the only sure rat killer." Take Mrs. Graves advice. Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by John Cook & Sons, J. Sudranski & Co. R. P. Mullins.

Make Your Own BUG KILLER P. D. Q.

You can easily make at home a full quart of the strongest bug-killer for 35c, enough to kill a million bed-bugs, roaches, bees and ants. This recipe will not burn, rot or stain the clothing and is entirely different from any other formula we know of, as this will kill the eggs.

Procure of your druggist a 35c package of (Pesky Devils Quietus) P. D. Q. then you will have the chemical made expressly to rid Hotels, Hospitals and dwellings of pesky bed bugs and other insects.

Impossible for the pesky devils to exist with the proper use of P. D. Q.

Special Hospital size $2.50—makes five gallons—your druggist has it or he can get it for you or sent prepaid either size by the Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind., upon receipt of price. Look for the devil's head on every package.

Three Cleaners in One—that is The Hoover. First, an electric carpet-beater that rids rugs of buried, nap-grinding grit. Second, an electric carpet-sweeper that defies threads, hairs or lint to cling tightly enough to resist removal. Third, an electric suction sweeper. Because only The Hoover combines these three essentials for thorough cleanliness, it has the greatest sale.

Furthermore, nap is righted, colors are brightened and the life of carpetings is prolonged—when you "just run your Hoover over."
